One woman's need for housing leads to relief fund creation

BRENDEN BARNETTE
A group of private citizens has established a relief fund to help people who need immediate assistance but cannot obtain it through other agencies.

According to Rhonda Patton, spokeswoman for the fund, the idea came from one woman's problems in finding a place to live and her children to live.

Once established through a special account at Hancock Bank, the emergency relief fund was named after Bill Kenny, a local state trooper killed in an on-duty patrol car accident two decades ago.

Patton said she chose Kenny because she had "always felt it would be appropriate to name something like this for him, because he was such a giving person."

The fund's immediate objective is to raise $100 for a woman who came to Hancock County Justice Court, where Patton is clerk, because she could find no immediate help elsewhere.

The $100 will rent a mobile home for the woman, a divorced mother with two children, and her six children, who range in age from six to 14.

"Once we help her get started, other agencies like St. Vincent's de Paul can come in to help her," Patton explained.

An available mobile home has been found, but the Bill Kenny Memorial Emergency Relief Fund has raised only enough to provide the woman with a week's rent.

The $100 will keep her in the mobile home for a month, long enough for her to qualify for other types of aid.

She cannot go to a woman's shelter because there is none in the county. According to Patton, everything of that nature is situated in the Biloxi-Gulfport area, geographically the center of the coast.

"We have needy people here who can't even get to Gulfport. We have people here who can't afford a gallon of milk, so you know they can't afford $18 in gas," Patton added.

"We hope to make the fund permanent and to establish a screening committee for the applicants. We realize that all the agencies here are really good and help the community, but we also want to provide some means of immediate assistance," Patton said.

Donations to the Bill Kenny Memorial Relief Fund can be made through the account at Hancock Bank or by contacting Patton at 467-9798 after 5 p.m.

"We all know money is tight these days, but there are other ways we can help this woman. She has six children, so it's obvious she needs food and clothing for them," Patton added.

The kids in the family are 14 and 12, and the two youngest are 6 and 4.

Household items could also be used.

1,504 names certified on petition against bond issue

By BRENDEN BARNETTE
Four signatures over the required 1,500 on a petition to have a county-wide election on a proposed Hancock County School District bond issue.

The petition was submitted by Circuit Clerk John Rutherford.

reported Friday, 1,504 of the 1,751 signatures on the 83-page petition had been certified.

The petition was submitted by Circuit Clerk John Rutherford.

However, Rutherford also reported another petition had been submitted to his office containing signatures of persons who want their names removed from the petition calling for the county-wide election.

School board Attorney Joseph Gex said Friday the petition for removal of names included approximately 100 signatures.

The school board reported its intent to issue $6.6 million of bonds for a building program in early March.

According to the school board, serious present overcrowded conditions and anticipated growth necessitates the building program.

Construction of a new junior and senior high school on property recently donated to the school district near Stennis International Airport is included in the program.

Funding for additional classrooms at Gulfview Elementary School in Lakeshore and Charles B. Murphy Elementary School in Pearlinton along with renovation of all existing school buildings is also included in the package.

Superintendent Terrell Randolph recently reported the district is already facing a crisis situation with the overcrowding and even if the bond issue passed, temporary measures may have to be made while construction is underway.

Enrollment in the schools through the end of March is actually higher than in the beginning of school in September, Randolph said.

He told the school board this was very unusual because enrollment usually dropped at this part of the school year and the recently recorded increase during the specified time frame was a first in the history of the school district.

Bay-Waveland school district planning budget hearing, forums

By DENA BISNETTE
The Bay St. Louis-Waveland School District Board is planning a public hearing and several forums on a proposed budget for Fiscal Year 1987-88.

According to Superintendent of Education Roger Oge, the state requires one public hearing on the budget.

However, the school district plans additional public forums in order to obtain public input during the budgeting process. Oge said the meetings are still being scheduled and will probably all be held in May.

The hearing and forums will be scheduled after regular working hours for the convenience of the public.

The number of meetings has not been determined and will depend to some extent on the information obtained, Oge said.

They will be similar to, but more detailed, than budget forums last year.

"We plan to go more in-depth. We want much more direct input from school system employees, the public in general, the business community, parents and the school board," the superintendent explained.

"Last year there was less flexibility in the budget by the time the public forums were held but some things changed as a result of the comments we received."

He added that major changes are not presently anticipated for the coming year's budget, particularly since there have been no cuts in state funding.

The district will have more than double the amount of textbook funds available during the current fiscal year. In addition, a little more transportation money has been made available, Oge said.

However, premiums for all of the district's insurance policies have gone up and more spending is expected in that area.

"I personally will be reviewing each budget item and questioning all budget items. I am not saying that everything or anything is wrong with the budget," said the superintendent, who explained that this is his first year for full participation in the budgeting process.

Oge took office in the summer of 1986, when much of the budget had already become fixed.

Additional $23.4 million released to Ammo Plant

By EDGAR H. PEREZ
An additional $23,407,938 has been allocated to the Army Ammunition Plant at NSTL in Hancock County, according to Fifth District Congressman Trent Lott.

The latest segment to be released of a total appropriation of $130 million is earmarked for acquisition of equipment required to meet the Army demand for an upgrade of the plant's production potential.

Operationally, Mason-Chamberlain, Inc., the plant is scheduled to eventually produce a top total of 120,000 52-mm artillery shells during wartime and 200 rounds in peacetime.

Coupled with some construction planned under a future allocation, the current equipment acquisition will bring the plant to this projected production capability, Lott reported.

Scheduled completion date of the mobilization upgrade is August, 1990.

The $23.4 million follows an earlier release of $90 million, both sums part of the total allocation of $130 million appropriated by Congress last year.

Release of the total $130 million is contingent on the findings of an expert military-industrial study committee called for by the Congress as a part of the appropriation bill to insure the plant will be able to meet the full production potential, and to investigate other possible peacetime uses of the plant.

In Memory of Michelle

The year has passed and now you're gone only memories to carry on.

We know you're in a safe and warm place, better than anyone could ever replace.

We know you're happy up above with our heavenly Father we all love.

Our love for you will never die. For as long as we remember you, we will still cry.

NINE TAILORS

Lord Peter Wimsey returns to the scene of a jewel robbery after 18 years and discovers a gruesome murder, an orphaned heiress and eight sinister bells as "Murder Most English" presents a rebroadcast of Dorothy L. Sayers' "The Nine Tailors" at 7 p.m., Saturdays, beginning May 2, on Mississippi ETV.

In bellringers' language, the "nine tailors" is the peal rung to announce the death of a man. In Ms Sayers' "The Nine Tailors," the eight bells that hang in the belfry of Fenchurch St. Paul in the English county of East Anglia sing their death dirge and nearly kill Wimsey.

The story opens in 1914 as Second Lieutenant Lord Peter Wimsey attends a wedding prior to joining his regiment in France. The wedding festivities are shattered by the discovery that the jewels of the distinguished guest have been stolen. Although the criminals are arrested, the jewels are never recovered.

Eighteen years later, as a result of an accident, Wimsey and his man Hunter find themselves back in the village of Fenchurch St. Paul on a New Year's Eve, and the mystery reopens.

Pope's visit to Xavier campus to be tribute to Black Catholics

NEW ORLEANS—When Pope John Paul II is traveling all over the world to places such as New Orleans he keeps in touch with problems the world over.

The pope keeps abreast of issues by traveling with a mini-staff of top officials, a kind of portable Vatican. The efficiency of the pope's on-the-road administrative system was evidenced after his November, 1985, two-week, 30,000-mile trip to Asia and the Pacific and Indian oceans.

Less than two days after his return, the pope had issued a series of statements on problems in countries far removed from his just-completed itinerary.

The statements included reiterating the church's support for Namibian independence from South Africa and opposition to apartheid and calling for an end to bloody fighting in Lebanon between Palestinians and Shiite Muslims.

The mini-staff of advisers stays informed through telephone contact with the officials of the Secretariat of State at the Vatican and by monitoring news media.

The secretariat is the main agency of the Vatican Curia and coordinates the work of the other Vatican departments.

On papal trips, the pope always takes at least one of two officials: Secretary of State Agostino Cardinal Casaroli, the Vatican's No. 2 decision maker, or Cardinal Casaroli's chief assistant, Archbishop Eduardo Martinez Somalo. Archbishop Somalo's official title is substitute secretary of state.

Another key adviser to the pope is Joaquin Navarro-Valls, Vatican press spokesman. Navarro-Valls supplies the pope with major event news, both general and specific information.

The pope is in contact with worldwide issues also became apparent from a recent meeting the pope had with 19 American cardinals, archbishops and bishops in Vatican City.

One issue the pope dealt with swiftly at the session was the need for a meeting with black Catholics during his New Orleans visit September 11-13.

At the request of New Orleans Archbishop Philip M. Hannan, the pope added this event to an already overwhelming schedule. Blacks had been concerned that the pope's tour would not deal with blacks as a group.

"He agreed right there that he should meet with black Catholics. He wants to do it," Hannan said.

The pope will visit the campus of Xavier University in New Orleans, the only predominantly black Catholic university in the United States.

All the pope travels to New Orleans and other stops on his schedule, Vatican officials call ahead to leave messages with requested information or set-up times for callbacks.

During his travels, the pope usually spends his nights at the residences of the local bishops, as he will here with Archbishop Hannan. The pope often uses the residences as a quiet place to reflect on events and make decisions with his advisers.

Also part of the papal traveling think-tank is a chartered airplane equipped with a special compartment allowing the pope to call in advisers for consultation.

On Pope John Paul's world trips, world problems become part of the carry-on luggage.

Forensics competitors from throughout U.S. to hold tournament

Forensics competitors from as many as 80 colleges and universities from throughout the United States are expected on The University of Mississippi campus March 12-15, when Ole Miss hosts the Delta Sigma Rho-Tau Kappa Alpha National Conference and Tournament.

This is the first national tournament to be held in the South in nearly a decade and the first ever held at a Mississippi university, according to Jo Ann Edwards, instructor in theatre arts and director of Ole Miss's nationally-ranked forensics team.

Previous tournaments have attracted 800-900 students and coaches for the competition in debate and forensics (which involves public speaking and oral interpretation of literature).

Competition for platform events will be held March 12-14. Winners of those forensics categories will be announced at the awards banquet Saturday night in Johnson Commons on the Ole Miss campus. Elimination rounds in debate will begin Sunday at 8 a.m. with the winners selected by that night.

Delta Sigma Rho-Tau Kappa Alpha is one of two major American forensics organizations. Eight years ago when Ole Miss competed for the first time in the DSR-TKA national tournament, team members placed first in six of the 10 events—a record that still stands.

The Ole Miss forensics team, who will be competing in the tournament they are hosting, ranked fourth in the nation last year in DSR-TKA and had two national titleholders in Poetry Interpretation and Prose Interpretation.

Quotables by CUEVAS

I received a telephone call on Thursday from a subscriber who was complaining about receiving a counterfeit $20 bill in a change transaction.

This resident realized the bill was a fake when she returned home but it was too late then to do anything.

She reported the incident to the police who kept the fake $20, but she said she was the big loser as she is out of that amount of money.

The reason she called me, she said, was to urge everyone to take time to check the bills they receive in change. If she would have done this she would not be out of $20.

Counterfeit bills seem to appear in the area quite frequently and it is a good idea to check your change when making transactions.

This week in Hancock County and throughout the State of Mississippi 'Salute to Business & Industry' is being celebrated.

We hope to see you at the 'Salute to Industry Breakfast' on Wednesday.

From Mississippi Economic Council

A blueprint for economic development

Mississippi has a blueprint for advancing its economy - now all we need to do is follow the plan.

The blueprint for the state's economic development was offered a few days ago at the Annual Membership Meeting of the Mississippi Economic Council in Jackson.

The suggestion came from Dr. Malcolm Porter, a native Mississippian who presently serves as vice president of the University of Alabama and who heads that state's economic development efforts through the university.

Dr. Porter has served this year as a consultant to the state Senate Finance Committee as it worked to develop a more effective strategy for Mississippi.

Every official and every volunteer in Mississippi involved in economic development should consider the blueprint outlined for us by Dr. Porter.

Here are his four suggestions for moving Mississippi ahead economically.

1. Build on your existing industrial base.

Dr. Porter suggests that a state's most significant growth may come from expansion of existing industry. Mississippi, he suggests, must not ignore what she already has.

2. Develop a public/private sector alliance.

Economic development is not just a governmental responsibility, nor is it totally a private sector responsibility. An effective economic development effort obviously requires close coordination and cooperation.

3. Recognize that the state is competing in an international market.

The competition is no longer just neighboring southern states. Now, Mississippi must compete with the Japanese, Koreans, and Europeans. Dr. Porter recommends increased spending and effort by Mississippi in its efforts to attract international investments into the state.

4. Create magnets which will attract industry into the state and which will encourage the development of home-grown businesses.

Dr. Porter suggests these "magnets" can be great universities, world class research, or similar attractions which draw business and industry into a state.

Mississippi's economic development leaders will do well to ponder the blueprint provided by Dr. Porter.

Bay VFW post sponsoring Loyalty Day ceremonies

April 7, 1987
To the Editor
The Sea Coast Echo
Bay St. Louis

Dear Sir,
May 1 of each year is designated as 'Loyalty Day' by Congressional Act 85-529 on July 18, 1958. This was a proud day for the Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States and all Americans because the Communists were using May 1 as their annual 'Hate Demonstration' against our nation.

Since 1930, the Veterans of Foreign Wars began its fight to obtain Federal Government recognition of May 1 as Loyalty Day and it was adopted at the VFW National Convention in 1949. Finally, it was made into law in 1958.

This is the day when all Americans are to reaffirm their complete loyalty to America and to the veterans of all wars who fought for us so we can now live in peace.

We must never let the Communists and others destroy our way of life. It must be defended through unity and a pledge to ourselves to maintain a free society in which loyalty is respected and encouraged. Most of all, we must honor our flag and country and never allow them to be disgraced or disrespected.

The Theodore S. Price Veterans of Foreign Wars Of The United States Post 3253 and its Ladies Auxiliary are inviting you to come and show your loyalty to this great nation and help us observe this great day in the history of our country.

The ceremonies will be held on Friday, May 1 at 7:30 p.m. in the Post Home Annex at 343 Third Street, Bay St. Louis.

In addition to the Loyalty Day program, we will honor the 'Voice Of Democracy' contest winners, deserving police, firemen and Mobile Medic personnel, Gold Star mothers, POW veterans and World War I veterans.

For the Spirit of Hope and Freedom,
Earl E. Salaun,
VFW Post 3253 Commander

Bay Police Department lauded on conscientious patrols

April 23, 1987
Sea Coast Echo
Bay St. Louis

Dear Editor:

I would like to comment on the fine job being done by the Bay St. Louis Police Department.

Due to the recent rash of burglaries, I have been very observant of patrol cars in our neighborhood.

Just the other day Patrolman Oeco stopped at a neighbor's home to check out an 'open door.'

He then noticed me arriving home and informed me that he would check out any unusual vehicles at my home.

You cannot imagine the relief I felt knowing the police department was personally interested in the well being of our community, that they were truly being observant and not just riding around.

My neighbor was also very relieved knowing personal interest was taken. In addition, I have been most aware of the numerous times the police pass during the day and night.

So in closing it is with much gratitude that I wish to thank the men and women of the Bay St. Louis Police Department for a job well done.

Respectfully yours,
G. B. Hunkliff

FOOT PROBLEMS

Q: What is the difference between a callus and a corn? Can I treat foot problems like these myself or do I have to see a podiatrist?

A: The average American walks more than 100,000 miles in a lifetime, so it's no surprise that over two-thirds suffer from foot problems.

Corns, calluses and bunions are among those most commonly suffered. Most people who have foot problems are from 30-50 years old. More than half are women.

Improperly-fitted shoes often cause a number of the more common foot problems, but one should consult an orthopedist for all but the most minor troubles.

Temporary solutions won't be enough if the disorder is caused by a problem with the bone underneath. People who have diabetes or circulatory abnormalities or who are very overweight, should see a podiatrist. Foot problems since these conditions can be the cause of ulcers and can complicate treatment.

Some over-the-counter remedies for minor foot problems can be very helpful, they should be used with care, though, because some contain potent ingredients.

For example, the acid in some corn-removers has solutions can damage underlying soft skin if used too vigorously, leaving the skin vulnerable to infection.

Corns are made of layers of dead skin cells and are caused by constant friction or pressure against parts of the foot. They are rounded shaped with the tip pointing into the foot. Hard corns tend to form on the tops of toes where skin is rubbed by an ill-fitting shoe and on the ball of the foot beneath a callus, which causes sharp pain with each step.

Minor applications of a corn-remover haven't helped, the sufferer should see his or her doctor rather than continue. Never use a razor blade to attempt to remove a corn.

If shoes rub against the foot, they'll cause some discomfort but a person can try to prevent corns from forming by using a stick-on, non-medicated corn pad or a piece of moleskin or foam rubber to cushion the area.

If possible, one should avoid wearing shoes that cause the problem.

When the bones of one toe press against those of the next toe, soft corns may form in between. Lamb's wool or cotton between the toes will help to prevent the corns from forming. But, once a person has corns, it's best to have a physician treat them.

Calluses form over a flat surface and have no tip as corns do. They usually appear on the heel or ball of the foot and are caused either by the friction of loose-fitting shoes or by shoes that are too tight. Often they're the result of wearing high heels.

A person with calluses can try to remove them gradually by rubbing the areas with a pumice stone after they've been softened by soaking or bathing.

Apply a moisturizing lotion after rubbing. Don't try to remove all of the callus in one day, because too much rubbing can damage the soft skin beneath, leaving it open to infection.

A bunion is an abnormal swelling of the bursa around the joint of the big toe. It's usually caused by tight shoes or an inherited misalignment of the bones. Only surgery can correct bunions. Today many podiatrists perform a simple in-office operation which is relatively quick and painless and requires only a tiny incision.

The 'Matters of Health' was prepared in cooperation with podiatrists on staff of The Dermatology Hospital - the teaching hospital for the University of Mississippi Medical Center.

Readers may suggest future topics by writing to 'Matters of Health,' The University of Mississippi Medical Center, 200 North State Street, Jackson, Mississippi 39201.

Retired investigator seeks secretary of state post

Steve Turney of Bassfield in Marion County is a candidate for Secretary of State in the August Democratic Primary.

He and his wife Michelle have five children who attend the Jefferson Davis Public Schools.

Turney has been involved with public land reform since 1980. He has twice gone before the State Supreme Court and various county grand juries.

"My investigation into government administration has revealed dishonesty, corruption and corruption," Turney said. "I have brought to the attention of the public the areas of government which need reform."

Turney's campaign areas: 1. To reform the public land system. 2. To support public education.

3. To ensure the best interest of the people.

4. To ensure the best interest of the people.

Lease terms extended on certain 16th Section lands

Secretary of State Dick Molpus reports that Governor Bill Allain has signed legislation which will increase revenues for many of the 100 school districts that manage Sixteenth Section School Trust lands.

The legislation permits the leasing of most classes of Sixteenth Section lands for up to 40 years at the discretion of local school boards.

The 40-year provision, like the 25-year limitation before it, does not apply to land classified as forest or agriculture.

"This legislation strikes the balance between the needs of those who lease the land and school districts," Molpus stated.

"The mandatory adjustment, as well as other classes in the act will provide adequate management safeguards for the school districts, insuring that fair market value is received for these school lands. At the same time the 40-year leasing provision will address the need which leaseholders have in obtaining long-term financing for improvements. This property will then be more valuable to leaseholders and will raise more money for our schools."

According to W. E. Miller, assistant superintendent of the Jackson Public Schools, the legislation's passage will help the district fully develop one of its sections in Southwest Jackson. The District projects that over $200,000 in additional revenues to that district alone may result.

Introduced in the Senate by Bob Montgomery of Canton and in the House of Representatives by Dick Hall of Jackson and Clyde Woodfield of Gulfport, the lease term extension legislation increases the school districts' options while protecting them from losses which might result from inflation.

House Bill 256 requires rental adjustments every ten years, with the exception of farm residential and residentially classified lands. For these two classes, if the clause is not a part of the lease, explicit reasons must be noted in the lease itself and on the minutes of the local board of education.

House Bill 256 implements the constitutional amendment approved by over 70 percent of the voters in the 1984 General Elections. The law represents the most substantive change to-date to the 1978 Sixteenth Section Reform.

He concluded, "The 1978 legislation is a good and workable law. Only after considerable study did we make a recommendation to the Legislature for this important change. While I do not foresee the need for further changes, as the ultimate trustee, the Secretary of State's Office will always examine ways in which to increase the revenues from this most valuable resource for school children and taxpayers alike."

4. To strive for efficient government.

5. To devote full time to the office.

6. To expose dishonesty and corruption in government.

7. To return the office back to 'In God We Trust.'

"This will be a tough act to follow, but I feel my 22 years of investigative experience, and most important, my faith in God will give me the edge needed to fulfill these commitments," he continued.

Like most candidates, Turney says, he needs campaign contributions, but as a result of commitment to election reform, he has decided not to seek or accept large corporate campaign contributions, as he feels this has the effect of 'tied hands.'

Instead he is taking his campaign on the road to meet the people.

Turney said he believes he should not ask other candidates to do something that he is not willing to do himself.

Ingalls awarded contract for 14th and 15th Aegis Cruisers

PASCAGOULA—The U.S. Navy announced that Ingalls Shipbuilding division of Litton has been awarded a $387,961,333 contract to build two additional Ticonderoga (CG 47) Class Aegis guided missile cruisers.

The award brings the total number of Aegis cruisers awarded to Ingalls to 18. Ingalls is the lead shipyard for the cruiser program, which began in 1978.

Sevenships of the CG 47 class have already been delivered by Ingalls. Two additional cruisers will be delivered by the company later this year.

This latest two-ship award to Ingalls followed competitive bidding between Ingalls and Bath Iron Works of Bath, Maine, for the three cruisers authorized by Congress last year. Five additional cruisers are planned for award over the next several years.

"The award of two out of three ships to Ingalls is significant for our shipyard and our employees," said

Jerry St. Pe, president of Ingalls and senior vice president of Litton Industries.

"It recognizes the outstanding performance recorded to date in building Aegis cruisers on time and within budget, and it reflects the success of our continuing efforts to further improve the efficiency of our shipyard operation."

St. Pe said the additional ships would contribute to stabilizing future work force levels, but would not prevent previously announced near-term reductions.

Overall employment at the shipyard will be adjusted from its current 12,000 to around 9,000 during the next two years before beginning to increase in early 1990.

Also affecting future employment at Ingalls will be the current competition to build additional ships of the Arleigh Burke (DDG 51) Class of Aegis destroyers. Ingalls has submitted a bid to be the second source shipyard for this important program. The Navy is expected to award this contract within the next several months.

"While the shipyard will experience near-term reductions, continued success with available new business opportunities could result in a work force of 14,000 to 15,000 by 1991, that could extend well into the 1990s," St. Pe said.

Pittman seeks federal review of State Supreme Court decision

Attorney General Pittman has asked the U.S. Supreme Court to review the Mississippi Supreme Court decision in the case of State v. Pittman. The decision, which was handed down on the 15th day of the month, held that the state's constitution does not require a jury trial for a defendant charged with a crime.

The case arose from a 1983 arrest in Alcorn County for possession of marijuana with intent to distribute.

This is only the second time that a Mississippi Supreme Court decision in a criminal case has been appealed to the higher court.

Pittman was stopped by a lone trooper on the night after a decision was made out of concern for the safety of law enforcement officers. The decision takes away from patrolmen the right to depend on radio transmissions from fellow officers as sufficient reason to physically detain a suspect, he said.

"After this decision, troopers are faced with an impossible choice," Pittman said. "If they don't know why a suspect is wanted, or what evidence other officers have for holding him they don't have enough information for an arrest, according to the Mississippi Supreme Court."

"If a patrolman who is alone takes reasonable precautions and physically restrains the suspect, he is taking a chance that all evidence found at the scene will be thrown out by the court. If he doesn't use restraints, he is taking a big chance with his own safety."

The state's motion for a rehearing made this point and listed all the highway patrolmen who had been killed in similar situations, but the petition for rehearing was denied without opinion by the Court.

Pittman said a decision by the U.S. Supreme Court on whether to hear a case is usually made within six weeks.

Pittman filed a motion for a rehearing which was denied by the state Supreme Court in February. The state's petition to the U.S. Supreme Court was filed last Friday.

They're back: Bob and Ray return to radio on PRM

On Sunday, May 3, Bob Elliott and Ray Goelick, better known as "Bob and Ray," return to Mississippi's air waves. At 6 p.m., Mississippians can hear the new "Bob & Ray Radio Show" on PRM (Public Radio in Mississippi).

This 13-part series, recorded with live sound effects and organ music, brings back some of Bob and Ray's funniest characters, including sportscaster Biff Burns; Neil Clumner, the editor of Wasting Time magazine; Farley Girard, a roving reporter who goes "Down the Bayways" of America; and Dr. Milton Chesney, the call-in psychologist.

Bob and Ray's low-key but relentless satire has marked their careers in broadcasting for 40 years.

On the first edition of the new series on PRM, the subjects for satire include the mail order business and television court shows.

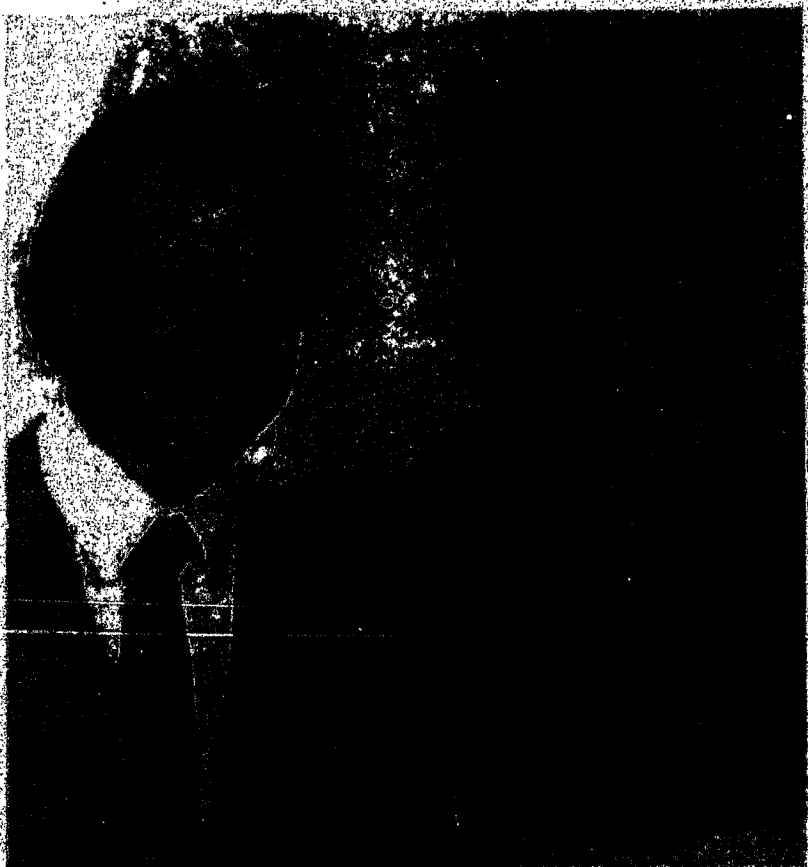

Some new "sponsors" have joined the show, including the Kretschford Braid and Tassel Company, the company that "dares to stand behind its fringe for two full years," and Height Watchers International. Commercials for Einbinder Flypaper will continue to be a part of the program.

Bob and Ray continue their merciless attack on prime-time soap operas with new episodes about the Murdock family in the ever-deepening saga of "Garish Summit."

Similar episodes have aired in small segments on PRM's "Morning Edition" in recent weeks.

PRM, a division of Mississippi ETV, is broadcast on FM frequency 90.3, Biloxi.

American Legion Auxiliary

At a recent meeting of the Clement R. Bontemps Auxiliary, Unit 139, Sgt. Pete Collins of the Public Relations Division, Mississippi Highway Patrol, discussed driving under the influence.

The Boy Scouts and their leaders were also asked to participate in this program and get some good advice from someone who has seen the harm, injury and sometimes a fatality caused by this action.

Sgt. Collins, from his many years with the Highway Patrol painted, a very true and vivid picture for all of us.

Another girl's name was added to the list of candidates to the Girls State program to be held sometime in June.

Roslyn Weathers was nominated to represent Unit 139 at the American Legion State Convention as the Outstanding Auxiliary member of the year; to be held in Jackson in July. Congratulations.

Mrs. Oris Planchard and Mrs. Roslyn Weathers "fixed up" 36 Easter "treats" for the Veterans who reside at the Hotel Reed Nursing and Retirement Home. Mrs. Evelyn Burns also Easter "goodies" and birthday gifts to the other residents who will be celebrating birthdays this month.

We wish all of our ailing and sick members, also those who are recovering from operations, a speedy and healthy recovery.

Blue Jeans Garden Club

Twenty members were present for the April 15 meeting of the Blue Jeans Garden Club when the group met at the home of Mrs. Robert Oris, Waveland.

Mrs. Sidney Coogan opened the meeting with the reading of a beautiful, inspirational poem "Let My Life Sing" by Mary Carolyn Davies.

Two new members, Mrs. Monroe James and Mrs. James Legasse, were introduced by president Mrs. A.M. Thomas and welcomed by the members. Mrs. Talmadge Conway, chairman, and her committee presented several possibilities for the annual Blue Jeans Spring Hat Show and Luncheon. Members voted unanimously to hold the May 15 affair at the Ocean House in Waveland.

Hat Show rules were viewed by the president for the benefit of new members and each member was given a copy.

The Blue Jeans will sponsor three athletes this year and the members have volunteered to work May 24 with the Special Olympics. Volunteers include Mrs. Conway, Mrs. Dot Feahney, Mrs. Christian Neuber, her granddaughter Angela Turner and Mrs. Thomas.

Plants and arrangements were entered in the monthly competition among members with winners in the various categories: Mrs. Robert Taconi, horticulture; Mrs. J.C. Goodloe, cultivated; Mrs. Gilbert Bischoff, potted and Mrs. Oris, miniature.

Mrs. Coogan won the coffee service and Mrs. Thomas won the bread. Co-hostesses for the social following the business were Mesdames Coogan and Thomas.

Part I in a Series

In coastal gardens

By John E. Davis

Area Horticulture Specialist

The success story to end all success stories is the new kid on the flower block - the impatiens.

Thirty years ago, it was only in limited use in this country as a bedding plant. Today, it is America's most popular annual.

The reason for this is that breeders made it better. Also, it is one of the easiest annuals to grow and does well in a shaded condition and in hot, humid areas.

Impatiens were well known in Europe where they were grown primarily as a potted plant. With the introduction of a non-hybrid series of impatiens called the "Babies" in the mid 60's, a breakthrough in impatiens use was on the horizon.

The dwarf habit of the "Babies" brought them not only into smaller ornamental pots, but also to the U.S. as a bedding plant that performed well in shade.

Before long, breeders in this country were making impatiens crosses and creating F1 hybrids.

These new impatiens were what the grower and gardener alike were looking for - they produced more flowers, were more uniform in growth, and were easier to grow.

The earliest F1 hybrids were the "Pixies" and the "Shadegloves." These were gracing gardens when Neil Armstrong took man's first step onto the moon in 1969.

Increase in the popularity of bedding plants as well as interest in shade gardening led to the development of the "Elfin" in the early 70's.

This represented another breakthrough as gardeners now had a dwarfier, more free-flowering impatiens than ever before.

The "Shadegloves" were upgraded and a new series from Holland called the "Imps" appeared as well.

During the 70's, impatiens became the most rapidly growing segment of the bedding plant market. By the early 80's, they had overtaken petunias as the number one flowering annual, particularly east of the Mississippi, where summers are hot and humid, the conditions they favor.

One of the reasons that impatiens are so popular is their almost no-maintenance requirements. Flowers are seed sterile, which means they drop cleanly and the plant just keeps on producing and producing.

One of the more recent innovations in impatiens is the double impatiens which resembles a tiny rosebud. "Rosette," the first double impatiens from seed, produces appleblossom pink, coral pink, orange, red, rose, salmon, scarlet and white blooms that are spectacular in tubs, window boxes, and hanging baskets.

"Duet" is another type with semi-double flowers of red, orange and

Confederate Memorial ceremonies slated today

Thousands are invited to attend the annual observance of Confederate Memorial Day today at Beauvoir, The Jefferson Davis Home in Biloxi.

The memorial service will begin at 10 a.m. near the Tomb of the Unknown Confederate Soldier. Admission is free to the memorial service and the grounds of Beauvoir, however there will still be a fee to tour the main house and the Confederate mansion.

Singers, many of whom are Confederate soldiers' wives in Old South hoop skirts, and more may be enjoyed during the day.

Starting at 10 a.m. and again at noon the Sacred Harp Singers will perform music popular during the days of the Confederacy and the War Between the States.

They will also perform during the memorial service at 3 p.m.

"There are people today who would like to see all ties to the Confederacy and southern heritage be done away with, and there are many incorrect myths and assumptions concerning the Confederacy," said Dr. James Newman of Biloxi, Confederate Memorial Day committee member.

"This event will be entertaining, but also very educational in regards to the correct interpretation of southern history. If you are proud of your southern heritage you will not want to miss Confederate Memorial Day at Beauvoir, Newman added.

For more information contact Newman at 801-435-1349 or Beauvoir at 801-388-1313.

Extension Council renews annual Operation Mailbox

Hancock County Extension Homemakers Council will again sponsor 'Operation Mailbox' in its effort to beautify the area in its war-on-ugliness and with the hope of stimulating some civic pride.

Every year we encourage residents to maintain, attractively paint and decorate their mailboxes with landscaping at the base of flowering plants.

Some of the requirements by the postal department are:

- Bottom of mailbox 36-42 inches from road surface
- Box securely anchored to post
- Box number at least one inch high on side of flag
- Group boxes must have numbers on the door

"During the last week in May we will announce the addresses of the most attractive mailboxes in the areas of Bay St. Louis, Waveland, Diamondhead and the county - so hop to it and start dolling up your mailboxes. We are counting on you," said Helen Cazaubon, chairman of the Housing, Energy and Environment Committee, Hancock County Extension Homemakers Council.

Longterm industrial development involves total community involvement

By Buz Olson
Executive Director
Hancock County
Port & Harbor
Commission

One of the main priorities of this office is to create new employment and assist in retaining existing jobs created by the industries which are presently located here.

We must seek new industry; however, to ignore the needs of our existing industry would be a reflection of our attitudes and values we place on their importance to our area.

We must show that we are responsible to their needs. It is important to remember that a significant percentage of new jobs created in this day and time are created through the expansion of existing industry. Therefore, we must be attentive to their needs and responsible to their problems.

In seeking new industry locations we must reflect a diversity of labor skills and a quality of life that will attract industry to our area. This can not be a single effort that is the total responsibility of the commission. It also must include the community as a whole.

This means forming a coalition of community leaders that reflect an upbeat image of the area. How we perceive our image to be is reflected in the leadership qualities of the community.

Our attitude towards encouraging a quality labor force, higher education, and community participation will be reflected by our actions and attitudes as seen by industry leaders.

Presently, Hancock County is on the threshold of a new era. The high tech industry has now entered the picture. We may attribute significantly to NSTL for this outgrowth of activity.

However, if we are to attract and keep this high tech development in our area we must be prepared to provide highly educated labor force and a locale offering a style of life that will keep them from wanting to leave.

The setting for this development to happen is in place. What we need to do as developers is to concentrate on encouraging the continued expansion of our high tech programs in the community and support the transfer of this technology to the private sector.

It has been noted in recent publications that a significant number of such enterprises have already expanded fast enough to become a major source of job creation in the nation.

The continuing role of the Hancock County Port and Harbor Commission will be to promote the economy of the county, attract industry and provide employment. However, to continue this role we will need the support and encouragement of the community and political and business leaders in our county.

MISSISSIPPI
Salute To Business & Industry

Hancock has much to offer industries

Hancock County located on the Mississippi Gulf Coast has much to offer new industrial prospects. The Hancock County Port & Harbor Commission operates Port Blenville Industrial Park and Stennis International Airport and Industrial Air Park. Stennis International Airport has a runway 3,500 feet by 150 feet with potential of being increased to 10,000 feet in the future.

The airport is located one mile from Interstate 10. Port Blenville Industrial Park is located in the western part of Hancock County and is only 50 miles east of downtown New Orleans. The site connects with U.S. Highway 90 by a three-mile access road. It is ten miles from Interstate 10 and eighteen miles from the intersection of Interstates 10 and 59.

Port Blenville has a shortline railroad which connects with the main line of The Seaboard Systems Railroad Company.

A 12-foot channel connects the industrial park with the Mississippi Sound and the Intracoastal Waterway.

Electric Power is supplied to Hancock County industries and businesses by Mississippi Power Company with headquarters in Gulfport, Miss. and Coast Electric Power Association with headquarters in Bay St. Louis.

Hancock County has excellent primary state highways, in addition to U.S. Highway 90 and Interstate 10.

Greyhound and Trailways Bus Lines have a terminal located in Bay St. Louis.

Natural resources within the county include two navigable rivers, many bayous and creeks, artesian water and free flowing aquifers.

McLeod State Park is located on scenic Jourdan River. The park offers a pavilion facility, fishing, nature trails and clean tree shaded picnic areas.

Buccanore State Park is located at the western tip of Waveland on the Bay. The complete recreational park has a Wave Pool, extensive camping accommodations and borders 12 miles of beaches.

The cities of Bay St. Louis and Waveland are located along the coastline.

Diamondhead Community located along Interstate 10, is a rapid growing residential area and offers many municipal services.

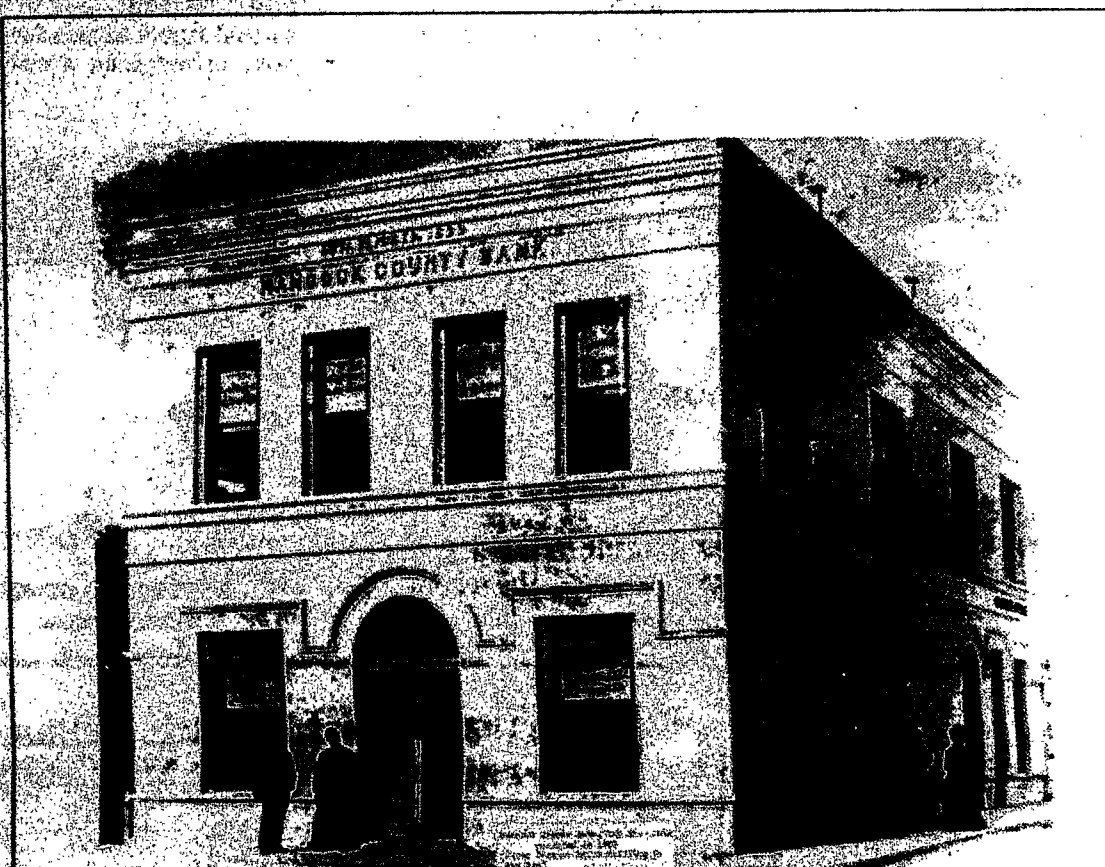

Industrial sites are available for lease or sale to selected services or industries.

Real estate tax is of critical interest to industrial projects. Industries are eligible, upon application, for certain tax advantages which can be negotiated on an individual basis.

Further information can be obtained by contacting the Hancock County Port & Harbor Commission, P.O. Box 69, Bay St. Louis, MS. 39520; (601) 467-9231.

BAY INDUSTRY—Underground aluminum cable is the product of Alcan Cable located on Central Avenue in Bay St. Louis.

First two-story brick building in Bay St. Louis. Occupied by Hancock County Bank in 1900.

We're Hancock Bank.

In 1899 a group of 19 businessmen sat down to organize the first bank on the western Mississippi coast. They had in mind a bank that would be willing to put faith in the individual. One to work side-by-side with local families to help the young Gulf Coast grow.

They founded Hancock Bank.

Since those days, Hancock Bank has grown to become the Coast's largest locally owned bank. But we haven't changed that original philosophy.

From helping early shop keepers purchase their first inventories. To financing multi-million-dollar industrial projects. We're still working to serve the individual family and business interests in our area.

We're Hancock Bank. The only bank you'll ever need.

In a recent meeting Tuesday, the Board of Supervisors of the Bay St. Louis-Waveland School District approved a general obligation bond issue to finance school district building program. The funds will be used to "pay the cost of erecting, repairing, equipping, remodeling and enlarging school building and related facilities, including gymnasium and auditoriums, lunch rooms, vocational training building, library, school buses and garages, transportation vehicles, and providing necessary water, light, heating, air conditioning, sewerage facilities for school building, and purchasing land," according to a resolution adopted unanimously by the four school board members.

One petition calling for the election was filed invalid. This petition
